

B.2 By Numbers

Puzzle by: David Morgan-Mar
Difficulty: Hard

cisra Puzzle Competition 2007
<http://puzzle.cisra.com.au>

Arriving in the solar system, your spacecraft evades asteroid-sized chunks of debris – the remains of Earth, destroyed centuries ago. From Mars University spaceport you take the subway to the museum. However, you soon discover that the curator has been atomised by a thief who stole from the museum the Voyager XIV plaque. You suddenly recall the story of why Earth was destroyed: the Hrgg'ndz'ns became offended when Voyager XIII arrived in their solar system bearing a plaque containing the complete works of the Spice Girls. Now, as you stare at a hologram of the final Voyager's plaque (fished from deep space by nervous Martians) you wonder what you're missing in this tangled web of intrigue.

		 6, 1, 15 3, 3, 10
		 2, 3, 3 3, 3, 7
28, 2, 2 	2, 1, 12	 11, 2, 16 13, 7, 4
8, 2, 18	5, 1, 11	 6, 1, 1 6, 3, 17
		 7, 2, 8 15, 4, 14
		 5, 2, 9 3, 2, 6
		 4, 2, 13 8, 1, 5

