

C.3 Iconoclast

Puzzle by: Ben Carr
Difficulty: Hard

cisra Puzzle Competition 2007
<http://puzzle.cisra.com.au>

You've successfully survived the first semester, but there's something about this school that isn't quite right. The constant testing, the strange speech patterns of the teachers, the daily alteration of room names and class locations, and the cleaning robots that patrol the corridors during classes. You're determined to get to the bottom of it all – but rumour has it that some of the rooms are death traps, intended for students who give up and just start trying doors.

Today, you notice that the Directions noticeboard includes the intriguing entry of "Administration", alongside the usual cryptic diagram. If you're going to get answers, that seems the place to go. But first you must work out an answer of your own...

13	7735	46189	25194	3553	595	1
221	124355	3135	43890	3135	124355	17
46189	373065	2805	43890	2805	4849845	3553
138567	969969	4849845	149226	4849845	74613	138567
221	11	2090	714	13585	143	221
221	114	170	3570	1105	19	17
13	85	9690	595	1615	12155	13

