Well I do the best I can:
Isn't it nice to know a lot?
How can you measure the life of a woman or man?
I'm big and strong and hot!

Where nothing's over three stories high,
To the mountains of Peru,
Makin' lazy circles in the sky,
I get it the whole day through.

With a four-speed on the floor,
You've got to pick a pocket or two.
What our God in Heaven has in store,
I'm not living without you.

And the wind begins to moan,
It's so nice to have you back where you belong.
Only drink when you're all alone,
To right the unrightable wrong!
